Carroll Chargers are rain washed

Carroll fans braved foul weather to follow the gridironers through a gloomy season. Damp weather plagued most of Carroll's games causing the Chargers to slush through a very wet football season. Despite the rain, the Chargers pushed on.

Charger fans get involved in fall sports

Even though the fall weather brought gray skies, the spirits of the faithful Chargers were bright. The rain and wind discouraged some of the spectators, but the majority of loyal fans were present with raincoats in hand backing our Chargers.

The major sports of cross country and football were filled with great victories and agonizing defeats.

Homecoming week fires Charger spirit

"Blue Power" activities for 1971 started long before the Homecoming game. The Student Council sponsored one major spirited project each day, starting with the decoration of the halls on Monday and climaxing with a tremendous bonfire Friday evening.

All Chargers had opportunities to get involved in the multitude of week-long activities: poster contest, tricycle races, float construction and the pep session.

Blue power spirit rose to a feverish pitch Friday nite as the bonfire flames leaped high. By midnight, only dying embers remained to remind the student body of the week-long Blue Power activities.

Blue Power sparks 1971 Homecoming

With "Blue Power" dominating Homecoming activities, the CHS marching band in colorful uniforms led the parade. Floats constructed by Audio-Visual, Drama Club, Freshman Class, National Honor Society and Senior Class preceded the queen candidates and the court.

A warm autumn breeze blew spirits high, even though the score at the end of the second quarter found the Warriors at a 28 to 0 lead.

The half time entertainment consisted of the crowning of Kathy Stevens as the 1971 Homecoming Queen and the performance of the band and drill team. Even though during the second half the Chargers held the Warriors and gained 6 points, the final score was Woodlan 28; Carroll 6.

Despite the defeat, spirits were not dampened as students danced to the sounds of the "Pegasus." And so ended the Second Annual Carroll High School Homecoming.

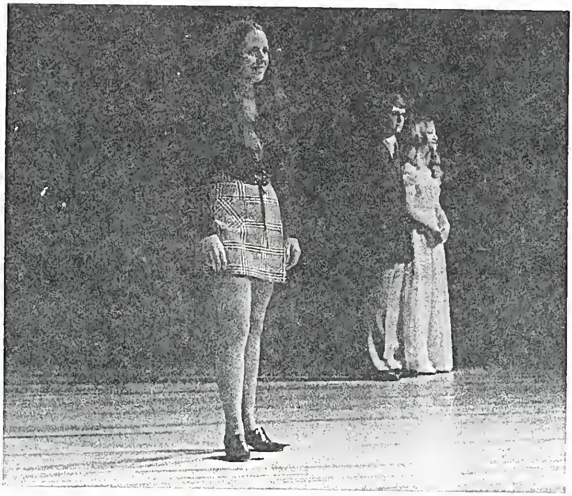
"Raindrops" is Miss Cavalier theme



Mary Meidinger was crowned queen at the Second Annual Miss Cavalier Pageant held on October 23. "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head" was the theme with Doug Littrell and Jo Ellen Stout as master and mistress of ceremonies.

The contestants were judged on their personality, poise, talent and appearance. Carinne Baggs, Spanish Club, and Sue Platt, FTA, were first and second runnersup.

Other candidates were Sue Dickey, Band; Sue Gibbons, Pep Club; Phyllis Heffley, Drama Club; Charlene Henney, GAA; Jan Johnson, Media Club; Diane Mackel, German Club and NHS; Bonnie Messmann, Carroll Times; Sandie Pentecost, Drill Team; and Diana Surfus, Choir.

Talents shine brightly on Carroll stage

A creative group of students displayed their talents before appreciative audiences in the Carroll Auditorium.

The Second Annual Carroll Follies in the fall proved that many types of creativity are possessed by classmates. Singing, acting and dancing captivated the audience.

During the winter months, the home ec girls presented a "Winter Wonderland" in order to allow others to view their sewing and modeling abilities.

Carroll Chargers finish season with a

The 1971-72 basketball season came to an end as the Chargers compiled a ten win and 12 loss record. Helping the Chargers to win their games were the girls and boys pep black. Along with the student bady and loyal fans, such as parents and alumni, Carrall's gym was cantinuously "packed with power." Although the Chargers lost a little aver half their games, their spirits, as well as those of the fans, were never conquered.

The hardest defeat of all was the hard faught battles against longtime rival Leo. All in all, the Carroll Chargers made this basketball season one which will never be fargotten.

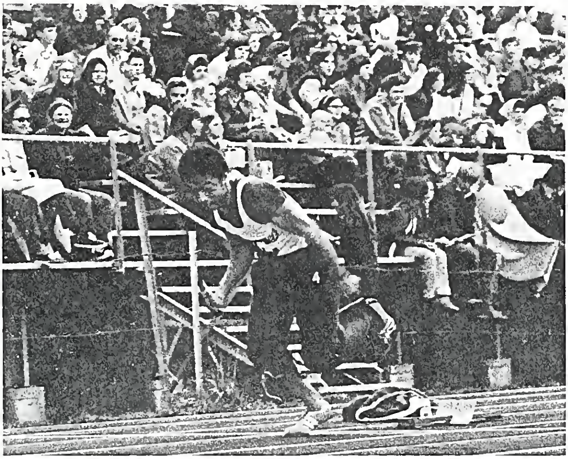
Second annual relays attracts crowd



The kindling spark of an idea and hard work combined to produce a successful Second Annual Carroll Relays which attracted eight area schools. The weatherman smiled on the large crowd which witnessed many records being set.

The Carroll Cindermen discovered how painful to be a loser, but in competition a way of life, a mark of discipline, as they finished in last place with Columbia City as the victors.

Adding to the excitement was the crowning of Queen Janeen Miller and her court, Cathy Pauly, Karin Franklin and Shirley Blessing.

With medieval enchantment, an "Impossible Dream" comes true

Nostalgia caught the seniors unaware, as the Carroll Commons was transformed into a magical forest for the 1972 prom, "Impossible Dream." A castle added to the romantic mood of the evening.

Malea Warner and Brad Kimmel were crowned queen and king. Members of their court were Debbie Keller, Cindy Holmes, Theresa Zern, Kathy Stevens and Shirley Blessing; Pat James, Mike Ramer, Stan Bowser, Nick Schortgen and Larry Fitch.

Couples danced to the music of the IT&T Band until midnight, which ended the "Impossible Dream."

'72-a year to remember for seniors

A Charger's Senior year stands out more than any other year. You hate it or you love it. This year a raffle was sponsored by the Seniors and also a Homecoming float. Announcements were chosen and students were measured for caps and gowns. Going through a semester of Government was trying and required. A few Senior privileges were rewarded, including Senior Hall. Mischief took place the last month of school, in an attempt to perpetuate the year "1972."

Carroll officially accepted into NCA

The 1971-72 school year was a rewarding one as Carroll High School was officially accepted into the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools during the week of March 27. Carroll received accreditation to the Association during the group's 77th Annual Meeting in Chicago.

The Association, which now accredits some 3,900 secondary schools and 700 colleges and universities, represents institutions with a total combined enrollment in excess of four million students. This is an accomplishment for the entire student body as well as the administration of Carroll High School.

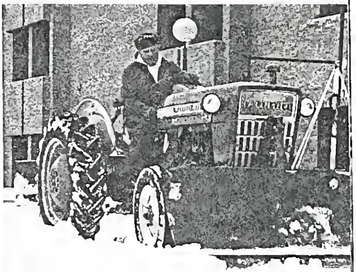
FAR BELOW: Besides preparing the food, the cooks serve it to hungry CHS students.



Creativity is expressed in the languages

Carroll's present Language Department consists of Spanish, German and Latin as well as required and elective English courses.

By taking a foreign language, the student is able to study the cultures and traditions associated with the language of his choice as well as the language itself.

Classroom activities, such as the making of greeting cards and game days, break the monotony of study while helping the students to learn.

Creativity comes forth in the layout sheet of the journalist, the composition of the Senior and the pantomime of the drama student. The varied English courses provide an open opportunity for each student to choose the lane he is best suited for whether it be anything from reading the required books for lit to acting out plays in drama class.

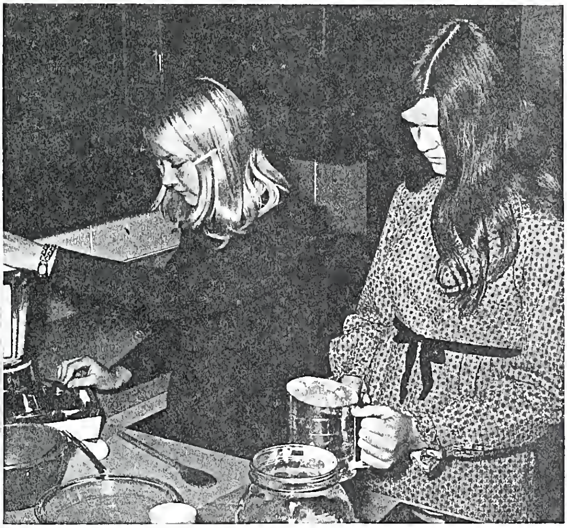
Lab develops home ec know-how



Where do Carroll High girls learn the fine art of being a housewife? That never ending task involving cooking, sewing and child care is learned in home ec. labs.

Students in first year home economics study cooking and sewing basics. Advanced classes give girls an opportunity to further their skills in the courses that interest them.

Advanced clothing and food, housing and family living prepare students to be good wives and mothers.

Math is the essence of our science

As the world becomes more scientific minded, the importance of mathematics in our lives has been more greatly emphasized than ever before. It was once stated by a famous contemporary scientist, that if it were not for math, all fields of science would be thrown back a period of one week, the week that God created the earth.

Future leaders look to business world

Business practice trains students for tomorrow. Bookkeeping classes show students how to keep the records of a business. Classes are also available in typing and office machines.

For students who want to capitalize on their language ability in business, shorthand is offered.

Knowledge plus skill = industrial arts

Industrial arts is a study of industry. It helps with the understanding of how things are made and the materials used. Working with people in organized shop activities enables a student to develop skills, explore occupations and develop worthwhile hobbies.

Woodwork, power mechanics and drafting provide some of the interesting experiences for Carroll students. Students can try a shop course as an elective credit or develop a regular major subject.

New projects improve ag

Various activities, such as planting flowers and trees help the horticulture students increase their knowledge of landscaping. Turf, greenhouse management and fertilization are also learned in horticulture.

Studying the science and production of plants is one of the major courses of study during the Ag Production and Ag Science classes. This, together with the learning of new farm procedures and advanced care for animals, prepares one for not only a future vocation in agriculture, but also for a college career.

Social studies students scan society

THE REAL MOTHER GOOSE

Hoping to turn out informed citizens who will get actively involved in society and government, the Social Studies Department offers a variety of courses.

US Government enables seniors to study our political system, including political parties, with emphasis placed on the structure of government.

Seniors also are able to study various economical problems facing today's society through Values and Issues. Students improve their knowledge of income taxes, the stock market, consumer economics and social security. Other course offerings for Seniors are sociology, psychology and exploratory teaching. World History and US History are offered for underclassmen.

Students express themselves in art

One of the busiest areas in Carroll is the Art Department. This year art classes helped to present the spring musical Brigadoon. In addition to drawing, printmaking, ceramics, crafts and general art classes, students were kept busy by making posters, decorating bulletin boards and displaying their creativity in the art showcase.

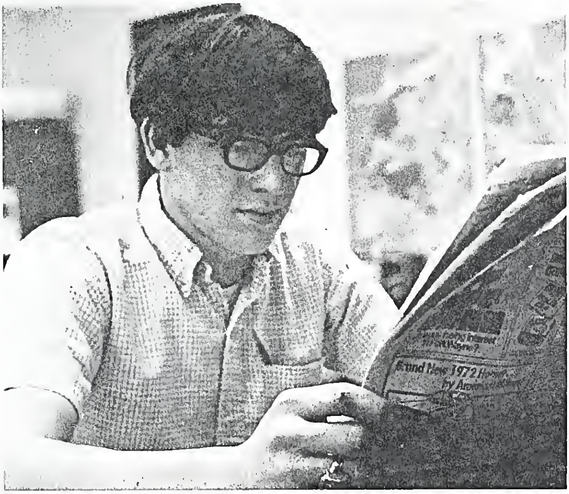
Self-sufficiency matures individuals



The Pre-Vocational Class at Carroll develops its curriculum around the world of work and every day living experiences. Students are encouraged to attain the best work habits necessary to be good workers. The main goal of this class is to help each student to become a self-sufficient citizen and worker in the community in which he lives. Through classroom activities and some work experience while in school, this goal can be accomplished by these students. Through a study of "Facing Life" individuals are introduced to some of the many problems which adults must be able to face and solve.

Science awakens students' curiosity

Experiments, lectures, research papers and discussions drive science students into a deeper knowledge of natural sciences.

Test tubes and lab reports help chemistry students learn the basic fundamentals needed to explore all forms of matter. Biology classes learn about life and how it exists.

With more new devices being used in our earth and general science classes, students are becoming more interested and the classes are becoming quite popular.

Through experiments, physics students explore physical principals and forces related to our space program.

Inexperienced team beats Eastside

In a season best forgotten, the small inexperienced Charger football team was unable to come up with more than one win against such foes as Norwell, Northrup, Elmhurst and the usual county competition.

The only win was a 45-6 stomping of Eastside. However, good play against Elmhurst and a near defeat of division champion Churubusco did lessen the pain of the eight losses.

Cross country is second in ACAC

The 1971 edition of the Carroll Cross Country Team proved that cross country is one of Carroll's most successful sports. An 11-3 record and a second place berth in the ACAC is a good indication of the team's strength. The harriers lost only to Norwell, DeKalb and city giant, Northrup. Gary Click successfully defended his ACAC championship and led the thinlies to a 5th place finish in sectional. Gary holds the school record of 10:01.

Also outstanding was Gary Striggle, who lettered for his fourth year. He was 27th in sectional and has a best time of 10:17.

Brad Kimmel, another four year letterman, has a best time of 10:15. Also lettering in their senior year were Dan Hess, Al Lyon and Jeff Hess.

This year's squad had excellent depth, as runners like Greg Brown, Steve Plummer, Ralph Linnemeier and Rick Warner will provide a sound basis for next year's team.

The team pointed all year toward the coveted ACAC championship and very nearly carried it away at the ACAC meet. Norwell, however, managed to edge the Charger harriers and wrest the crown away.

Frosh and reserve basketball builds

The Charger reserve and freshman squads rounded out their seasons with reserve at 12-8 and the freshman squad with 5-10 for the "A" team and 7-1 for the "B" team. With the incentive of Charger spirit behind them, the reserve and freshman squads should grow and develop into a great Charger basketball team.

This year's basketball season was highlighted by a fine showing at the sectional in which the Chargers defeated South Side and fought hard against the strong Lea Lions, only to be defeated by one point. Lacking the experience of former years, Carroll's team started out slow in the season, but finally came into their own only to be a little late. They ended the season with a 10-12 record, still very commendable for a slow start and a fine finish.

Wrestlers prove experience counts

Carroll grapplers proved that experience is a key factor for a successful year. Just ending their second season, the wrestlers showed noticeable improvement. The team ended with a commendable 6-5 win record.

Greg Morgan had the fastest pin of the season, 27 seconds. Gary Merriman and Tom Reusser shared honors for the most pins, each having eight.

Junior Lenny Yearling grabbed glory late in the season when he was the only Charger to emerge from sectionals and advance to regionals.

Trackmen set performance records

Bringing pride, honor and recognition to Carroll High School was the accomplishment of the varsity track team as school and county records were toppled.

The cindermen ended their season in fifth place and also took a fifth in the conference meet.

The relay team of Ralph Linnemeier, Gary Striggle, Gary Click and George Cooper set both a school and ACAC record of 3:25.2.

Ralph Linnemeier, who was undefeated during the season in the mile, set a new school and ACAC 440 time in :50.7.

Sophomore Dave Exner set a school record for the high hurdles in :15.9. Toppling the CHS time for the half mile was Rick Dave who sprinted the course in 2:02.

Gary Click's new time for the mile rests at 4:24.5. The record for the half mile is now set at 1:35.1 by Gary Striggle, George Cooper, Ralph Linnemeier and Mike Ventruello.

Hardballers perform on new diamond

A fired-up spring baseball team performed very impressively as they defeated South Side 12-9 in the first game to be played on the newly finished Carroll diamond.

Spring also saw one of the largest turnovers ever in baseball personnel at CHS. Only five lettermen returned from the summer squad, but thirty novices tried out for the team.

With a rather young team (two seniors and two juniors) the Chargers showed promise that their future could be bright as they compiled a 6-4 record prior to sectional play.

The summer 1971 edition of the Charger baseball team had several familiar faces but only limited experience returning from the championship team of 1970. The team started slowly, but came around after midseason, led by the pitching of Pat James and the fielding of Mike Ramer and Gary Click. Junior Dan Gerard and Pat James were the leading Charger batters for the season. The team finished with a 4-5 record in the ACAC and were 10-9 over all.

Golfers tee up for victory; win ACAC

Winning the ACAC highlighted the season's action for the varsity golf team. The linksters finished the year with a 13-4 record; a 9-0 conference record and the honor of being conference champs.

In sectional activity, the Chargers came in ninth out of twenty-two teams. Jim McCrady had a brilliant one over par 73 to qualify him for regionals.

Another high point for the golfers was the capturing of the Central Noble Invitational. The team won by beating Garrett in two sudden death playoff holes by having a birdie from Mike Baciu.

All school golf records toppled as a talented crew strived with determination for better scores. With four returning lettermen, the Chargers look strong to capture many more honors next year.

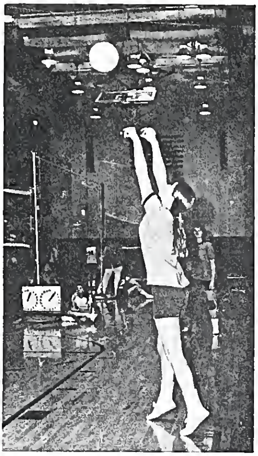
GAA girls compete in ACAC sports



Aside from the regular Girls Athletic Association activities, there are girls who strive in ACAC competition with other schools. They participate in softball, volleyball and track which requires long hours of practice and endurance.

During the fall, the volleyball team was busy practicing for ACAC competition and district games.

This spring saw the girls track in full swing running against teams such as Leo, Eastside and Adams Central. The girls ended their season by placing second in ACAC.

Although the softball team did not play in a tourney, they engaged in games with other schools for a successful season.

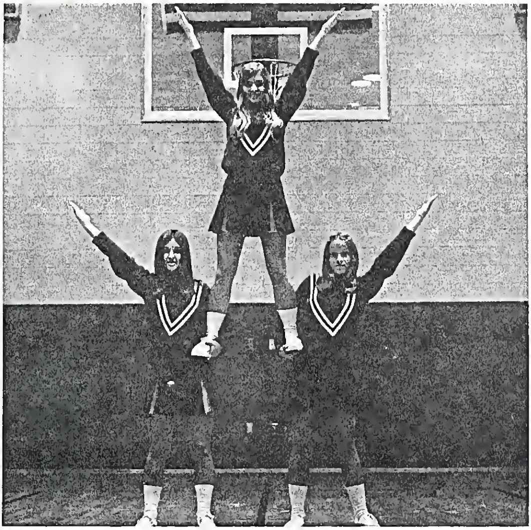
Cheerleaders spread Charger fever



Attending a summer cheerleading camp at Vincennes University helped varsity cheerleaders to coordinate their actions and add new cheers to their collection. During the six-day stay with about 400 other cheerleaders, the girls planned pep sessions and other activities which were intended to raise the school spirit.

The enthusiastic fans were led by the cheerleaders during the football and basketball season. They were also engaged in many activities to help boost the players' spirit and confidence. Cupcakes, cookies, candy and oranges were given to the basketball, football, cross country and wrestling teams to lighten the toughness of exhausting practices.

Student Council brings awareness on ecology

Attempting to bring about an awareness of our deteriorating environment, an Ecology Week was sponsored by CHS's Student Council.

Films, guest speakers and posters all pointed out what students could do to help in improving our environment.

The Second Annual Homecoming was again sponsored by the Council. It featured a pep session, tricycle races, parade of floats, selling of donuts, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and a dance following the game.

Other projects of the Council were promoting spirit for sporting events by selling donuts and sponsoring skits and poster contests, donating a flocked Christmas tree, posting school menus and selecting an outstanding student who contributed the most to the welfare of the school. Senior Marc Blessing received this honor.

The Council attempted throughout the year to develop leaders through involvement and to do something positive for CHS students.

Harried journalists try to meet all final deadlines

Meeting deadlines is a problem of all journalists, making the Cavalier and Times staffs no exceptions. With the coming of spring, a senioritis infected Cavalier staff fought all symptoms to publish the yearbook. Even though the newspaper staff had been infected since early December, they still managed their weekly newspapers.

During the first half of the 1972 school year, it was even rumored that the newspaper staff was printing two mimeographed papers a week, plus a monthly offset. All this, free of charge!

The Cavalier staff congregated daily to discuss the latest gossip. If none, they worked sporadically on the yearbook, between safaris through the halls. The colorful personalities of the almost all senior class became evident as they produced a full color senior section.

Having successfully won eight team trophies, ten individual trophies and 81 ribbons, the NFL speech team ended the season in sixth place in the state.

The group then staged "The Littlest Angel" and the very successful spring musical, BRIGADOON in conjuction with the music department.

With three active speech and drama classes, the year drew to a close in "An Evening of Plays," climaxing a rewarding season.

FFA's motto: youth with a purpose

"Youth with a purpose" proved to be a motto which kept the Carroll Chapter of the Future Farmers of America busy.

Selling garden seeds and sorghum, sponsoring a roller skating party and a donkey basketball game were some of the club's money making projects. These enabled the group to send members to the FFA National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, and to erect basketball courts on the parking lot.

In order to become involved in community activities, the FFA has a Building Our American Communities Program (BOAC). This enables FFA members to help improve our environment through different organizations. Other projects include participation in judging contests, camping trips and landscaping the school lawn by planting shrubs.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

FHA'ers stay busy with projects

Twenty-four members of the Future Homemakers of America, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Reece, did "promote for better community and family."

They were busy making favors for the residents of the Allen County Health Center and cheering up the Irene Byron Hospital patients with Christmas placemats and hosting the Annual Teachers Christmas Tea.

As a regular money-making project, each month found the girls baking cookies to sell to the students after school.

This summer the girls planned a trip to the Amish Acres in Napponee to understand the ways of the Amish people.

Future teachers investigate education

Mrs. Alter, sponsor, and Mrs. Amick, new co-sponsor, kept the Future Teachers of America up to par as the 33 members worked toward bringing new interest to the teaching field, learning more about the surrounding colleges and investigating different teaching areas.

Some of their planned activities were trips, meetings, the Elf program, the Area and State Convention and guest speakers in the field of education.

Y-teens favor May; a very active month

As a member of the YWCA, Carroll Y-Teens work to fulfill the goals of the Y's world-wide organization.

With 54 members and two sponsors, the club took on many new and different projects. Along with the usual parties at the Allen County Health Center, they adopted two children from the Childrens Home. Other activities were the Annual Thanksgiving Food Drive, the collection of paper back books for the State Hospital and old eyeglasses for the Lions Eye Bank. In the spring, the mothers were honored at the Annual Mother Daughter Tea.

Climaxing the year were the annual camp weekend and the picnic at Franke Park, both honoring the senior members.

Senior library assistants, Angela Hedrick and Connie Hobbs, help Mrs. Whetsel replace and sort library cards in order to keep the library in tip-top shape.

The Media Club, consisting of 17 members, assists librarians Mrs. Whetsel and Mrs. Biggs with checking, filing and typing. Each member gives up a study hall or activity period to fulfill library duties.

The club was able to add to the library resources with profits from their Christmas candle sales. Other projects were the annual book fair and Sweetheart Dance. The Media Club traveled to Indianapolis for a state convention in late October.

New clubs involve more students

The Future Secretaries Association is the newest club to form in CHS. Sponsored by the Business Department, the purpose of the club is to give girls more knowledge of the business world. CHS is the first county school to have a secretarial club.

The forming of the Photography Club is another new addition to Carroll's organization list. Members hope to expand next year by getting more students interested in taking and developing pictures.

The darkroom was equipped for the first time with $367.06 worth of enlarging and developing equipment purchased by the school.

Songs allow expression!

Performing in the Winter and Spring Concerts and supplying singers for the Brigadoon production kept the Carroll High School choir musically busy.

Under the direction of Luke Matthew, who is new to CHS this year, the choir obtained new music and practiced approximately 40 different selections for performances.

Pop music was the specialty of the Choraleers. Taking part in concerts with the main choir and band, the Charaleers added a touch of today's sound to the musicals.

Physical fitness improves by bowling, archery and volleyball in GAA action

Bowling, archery and volleyball are a few of the activities participated in by the GAA. The Girls Athletic Association is active during the entire school year.

The purpose of the club is to provide an opportunity for girls to participate in recreational activities. To be able to join the club each following year, girls must earn 35 points during the previous year.

Miss Mary Andrew is the sponsor for the GAA, with Mrs. Elsie McAlexander co-sponsoring. The officers of the club are as follows: Mary Schortgen, president; Molea Warner, vice-president; Jodi Kimmel, secretary; Theresa Zern, treasurer; Teresa Striggle, student council.

The Charger Band plays on in '72

On brisk fall afternoons, the band, under the direction of Luke F. Matthew, could be seen and heard drilling back and forth, with their practice bringing near perfection.

The 54 members thrilled sports fans with their precision marching technique. The band topped off Charger enthusiasm during football and basketball games, pep sessions and assemblies. The auditorium was utilized for free concerts.

The band traveled to Homestead for the NISBOVA competition, earning a second place.

Drill team, twirlers, Charger chicks

The 61-member drill team marched at Homecoming and alternated with twirlers at home basketball games. Practice became mandatory as new routines were performed at each game. A new attraction at basketball games was the Charger Chicks, made up of senior lassies who wished to "pep up" the spirit between junior varsity and varsity games.

Pep blocks promote Charger spirit

"Hey, let's flip . . ." screams the Girls Pep Block, while not too far away the Boys Block thunders "Here we go Chargers!"

Sporting royal blue sweaters and dark skirts, approximately 120 girls participated in the Girls Pep Block. Besides the strong vocal show, the pep block performed hand motions to the music the band played.

Throughout the year the pep block officers and constitution committee developed a new constitution. They helped promote school spirit by making posters for each game and baking cookies for the team members for the away games.

At county tourney time, the members of the pep block bought boutonnieres for the team members and the two coaches.

The first year of an organized Boys Pep Block was a tremendous success. Led by the senior boys, the Boys Block did cunning chants during the games. The unofficial count of the Boys Pep Block was 80.

YOUR SENATORS INVITE YOU TO WASHINGTON!

RIGHT: Horticulture instructor Homer Schipper and son, Dan, examine foliage on a recently planted tree. Dan won a trip to Miami, Florida, to participate in the National Horticulture Convention.

Yippee, we finally did it!

To many, the job of editor may seem nothing more than a title. At times there may have been little to do, but it caught up with us at the end of the school year. It was at this time that we fully appreciated the assistance of our adviser, Mrs. Clark, for without her help, the 1972 CAVALIER wouldn't be as you see it now. We also thank the Senior Class, and the many patrons and advertisers who financially supported the book. We hope we presented Carroll's '71-'72 school year as it really happened. So here it is; interpret it as you wish.

Co-Editors .... Shirley Blessing and JoEllen Stout

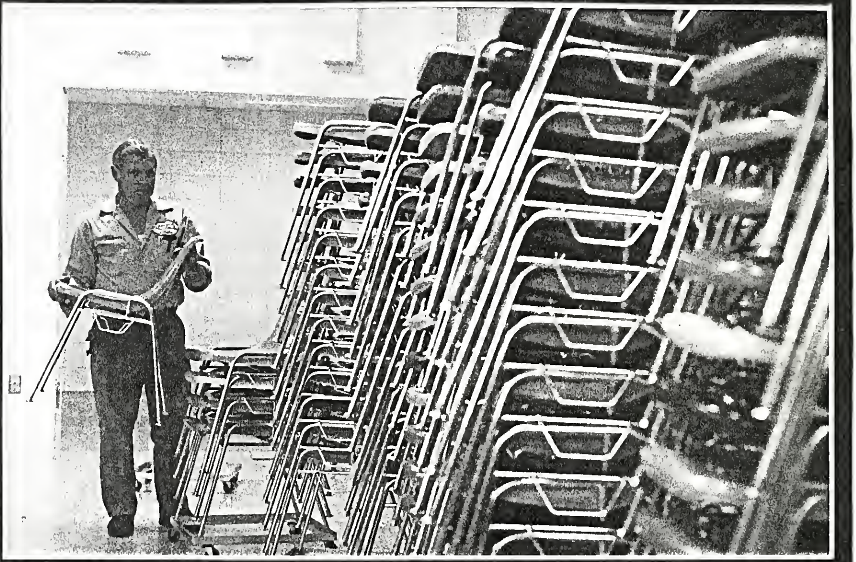
Business Managers .... Sharon Brumbaugh and Jill Clark

Photographers .... Roger Hoot and Jim Moore

Staff............. Richard Appel .... Cindy Holmes
Cheryl Biddle .... Jan Houser
Janet Branning .... Doug Littrell
Kay Cutchin .... LuAnn Messmann
Kathy DeWitt .... Tom Reusser
Gail Dawson .... Julie Rinehold
Carol Fitch .... Larry Ross
Phyllis Greener .... Malea Warner
Janet Hatfield

We can't believe we did the whole book!

ABOVE: Cavalier adviser Mrs. Clark congratulates daughter Jill on being selected class salutatorian.
BELOW: Donning a hard hat for further emphasis, editors Shirley Blessing and JoEllen Stout prove a yearbook is hard work



It’s all over.
